

Drifting

All you have to do is to be yourself
Though, this is nothing new, I bet you'll fail
You always try to please everyone
So what is true? Who are you? Where have you gone?

Drifting, you will never really know
Drifting, you can never really show
Who you are now

Slow down and go inside
Drop the mask, don't hide, no
You just drift too far away
Keep close to yourself if you don't want to lose your way

Nothing's what it seems anymore
I don't know right from wrong anymore
So far away from what is real
Confused about what to feel

Drifting, you will never really know
Drifting, you can never ever show
Who you are now

Slow down and go inside
Drop the mask, don't hide, no more
You just drift too far away
Keep close to yourself if you don't want to lose your way

Give it time, give it the time it takes, the time you never have
Do it right, do it the way you are, the way it deserves
Give it time, give it the time it takes, the time you never have
Do it right, now, do it the way you are, the way you really are

Slow down and go inside
Drop the mask, don't hide, no
You just drift too far away
Keep close to yourself if you don't want to lose your way